

Stacy L. Sollenberger

Partner

Stacy L. Sollenberger is a partner with ISHR Group. She has over 17 years experience in human resources and business. Her passions include organizational effectiveness, leadership assessment & development, facilitating teams toward maximum performance, and personalized career & team coaching. She has held both HR generalist and specialist roles in both Union and non-Union environments and has completed projects in a full range of functional disciplines such as manufacturing, distribution, sales, marketing, finance, and information technology. Stacy graduated from GE's Human Resources Leadership Program, was certified as a Six Sigma Quality Black Belt, and was a corporate auditor for GE's Audit Staff.

Stacy designed and developed the full spectrum of leadership development courses offered by the ISHR Group. Her creative style and dynamic approach make the interactive and customizable courses unique and impactful experiences that leverage the coaching and assessment expertise of the ISHR Group. Stacy's recent clients include Accenture, GE, Gexpro, Hexcel, IBM and WalMart. Stacy is certified to administer the Birkman® Motivational Profile and the Herrmann Brain Dominance Instrument (HBDI).

Stacy earned her Bachelors degree in Social Science and a Masters degree in Labor Relations / Human Resources, both from Michigan State University. She lives in Atlanta with her husband, Alan, and three children: Emma, Brennan & Gavin. Stacy loves adventure: she is an avid runner and enjoys traveling the world.
